

Proposed Round 4 Offshore Wind New Leasing

Since we announced our intention to consider making new seabed rights available for offshore wind development, we have been actively engaging with stakeholders and the market, keeping them informed of our thinking and seeking their feedback to help us shape our proposals.

Our engagement journey so far

NOV 2017

The Crown Estate announced we would consider making new seabed rights available for offshore wind

■ 2018 FEB – JUN 2018

Developed early proposals on the potential scale, location and nature of new leasing based on extensive data analysis:

JUL 2018

Shared our initial proposals at our first market and stakeholder engagement events statutory stakeholders attended a dedicated workshop points of feedback received from 6 government bodies and 7 statutory organisations delegates attended the market event

market participants submitted feedback

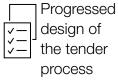

From the feedback received, and our own further analysis, we:

NOV 2018

Shared our updated proposals at our second round of events

EX 30

stakeholders

attended stakeholder organisations

submitted feedback

FR? 131 delegates

attended the market event

market participants submitted feedback

- Analyse additional feedback and data received
- Refine final proposals
- Prepare for launch and bidders day

2019 Proposed launch of Round 4

Engagement at a glance

Throughout our engagement process, we've engaged with over 15 government bodies and statutory organisations, including:

As well as:

Over 170 new registrations to receive new leasing updates since beginning of engagement.

Our Offshore Wind New Leasing web pages received*:

18,595 views

2,336 document downloads

*As of 18th February 2019.

delegates attended our four engagement events

positive satisfaction at our engagement events

The Crown Estate's approach has been well set out in the documentation and follow ups provided. ""

We welcome the commitment to environmental analysis and scrutiny and we are keen to see this robust environmental focus continue throughout the leasing process. ""

We have been encouraged with the openness and transparency of the process to date and willingness of The Crown Estate team to engage and discuss issues. ""